The Brunch Brigade

Here, three eateries fresh on the scene with all the babka, brioche and Benedict you can order: Evan Bloom and Leo Beckerman's pop-up delicatessen, WISE SONS, might well lead S.F.'s everything-housemade race with its bialys and corned beef hash on rye. The schmalz is artisanal, but we're not saying it isn't artery-clogging. wisesonsdeli.com. • Can't get enough of David LeFevre's bacon-cheddar biscuits? M.B. POST'S staple is also on the new weekend menu. 1142 Manhattan Ave., M.B., 310-545-5405; eatmbpost.com. • Kick back with Jason Tuley's pancetta-topped "breakfast" pizza and a Michelada at THE CHURCHILL—latest on Third Street's revived row. The Orlando, 8384 W. 3rd St., L.A., 323-650-8384; the-churchill.com.
